

The responsibilities given to me at science school taught me how to organize my assignments on a much more independent level. I became much more efficient when completing my tasks, a skill that was highly valuable to me in university.

Madelaine, Semester 54